Tutoring Experience

I've spent the past decade tutoring IB, A-Level, and IGCSE Geography, helping students navigate complex topics and preparing them for their final exams. My approach combines clear explanations with real-world examples, enabling students to develop a deeper understanding of key geographical concepts. Over the years, I've worked with students from diverse backgrounds, tailoring my teaching to their individual learning styles.

In addition to Geography, I have successfully helped students with AP Geography preparation, ensuring they achieve top scores. I've taught students from both international and local curriculums, allowing me to adapt to different educational systems effectively. My commitment is to guide my students to not only succeed academically but also to develop a passion for the subject.

Furthermore, I have mentored students through university applications, focusing on building strong academic profiles for geography-related courses. Many of my students have progressed to renowned universities, showcasing the strength of their knowledge and skills developed through our sessions.
